Evans Stays On Leading Edge of Logistics Technology with New IT Director

MELVINDALE, Mich., March 31, 2016 — This month Evans welcomed Craig Van Noord to their executive team as the Director of Information Technology. Craig is responsible for internal and external technology and works with a very savvy team to manage software, hardware, communications technology, and automation.

With more than 15 years of technical experience and IT management, Craig has the ability to drive solutions for customers both large and small with effectiveness and efficiency. Some of his technical certifications include MCSC Certification, and VCP VMware Certified Professional. Craig has a unique mix of software and hardware knowledge and is focused on finding the best solutions for our customers.

As the logistics industry continues to rely more and more on technology, and data integration, Evans continues to invest in IT development and infrastructure. Evans provides cutting edge technology to customers including; online inventory management, online order processing, customer file sharing, customized reporting, geo-fencing, trailer tracking, among other innovative solutions.

“Our customers rely on us to develop new technology solutions to enhance their supply chain. The addition of Craig affords us the resources to technically relevant and innovative.” Said John Evans, president of Evans Distribution Systems.

Evans plans to expand their IT infrastructure and team to accommodate new customers, and new requirements, as well as to increase its order fulfillment and e-commerce technology.
