The honor suits the 90-year old company, as Evans continues to stand out as an industry leader in providing innovative logistics solutions for a variety of industries.

"Evans Distribution Systems' consistent growth is the result of a commitment to customer service, continuous improvement and an ongoing investment in technology," says Leslie Ajlouny, vice president of business development at Evans. "There's a great deal of positive change happening this year; Evans and our customers are seeing the results and we're motivated to stay on this path well into the future," Ajlouny says.
